To get permission, pharmacies must be approved by the Medicines and Healthcare Regulatory Agency and the Care Quality Commission, which regulate the provision of medicines and healthcare. How can I tell if an online pharmacy is regulated? Viagra goes on high street sale. One recent survey of doctors by the medical newspaper GP found that one in four have treated patients for problems that were caused by internet-bought medicines. Currently, none of these pharmacies can provide viagra without a prescription. Unregulated websites cannot provide this important safety measure. Check here for alerts. This is because viagra can potentially interact with common medicines, such as blood pressure and angina medication, or cause complications if used by people with certain health conditions. Does this mean I can go into a pharmacy and buy viagra? Viagra, like all drugs, has potential side effects so patients may need follow-up assessments after they begin taking the drug. More seriously, they could be putting their health in danger. They must be registered with the RPS, which regulates their safety. Websites that sell prescription-only medicines are likely to be illegal in Great Britain. The RPS has developed a logo that will appear on the first page of registered online pharmacies. What if I have purchased or used a medication that I think may be illegal? Are there legitimate internet pharmacies? Viagra to go on sale over the counter. Any websites claiming to sell viagra should be avoided as they will not be regulated by the Royal Pharmaceutical Society of Great Britain RPS and there may be concerns over quality, safety and effectiveness of the products they provide.
