Most customers in this situation would be angry about the fact that they are being denied their medication, but I have told you several times now that I am concerned about identity theft and you do not care, and neither does your pharmacist who tried to help me. Then she told me the information was stored in a State of Michigan database, completely contradicting what the pharmacist had told me. Without it I would have to move to Arizona. At no point during her end of this conversation did she ever offer any kind of website, phone number, or any other piece of information that I could use to check this out in greater detail.
