Doxycycline should not be administered in tablet form to cats, as it may damage the esophagus. The treating veterinarian determines the mode of administration, as well as dosage and frequency. Doxycycline is a tetracycline-class antibiotic used by veterinarians to treat animal patients suffering from certain bacterial infections and microorganisms. If the animal experiences hives, swelling of the face, lips or tongue or has difficulty breathing, contact the veterinarian immediately, as these are signs of an allergic reaction. This medication should not be administered to animals younger than seven months of age, as Doxycycline may bind to calcium in the teeth, causing discoloration.
