The Charter provides outlets of addressing such disputes, within the general objective of promoting regional cooperation, peace and security. Where the LCBC is unable to resolve a dispute, regional or sub-regional authorities may be involved. Contributions for 13 February stock-taking session. Conflicts resolution The issues discussed above are geared towards integration, peace, cooperation, and security as means to prevent or minimize conflicts and disputes between member states as well as between citizens of member states. In real life, however, such disputes or conflicts may still occur. The committee, with membership from all the Parliaments of the Member nations, has the potential of providing a sub-regional forum to serve as a vehicle for effective cooperation and integration. Throughout the year we send our free articles and advice on planning for college, and if you are serious about educating yourself on all your options, submit your e-mail address using the form in the lefthand column. The Lake Chad Basin Water Charter is in tune with the international concern to ensure that water as one of the most precious commodities is properly managed. All these are designed towards the general and specific objectives of creating the charter. Under Chapter 12, a wide range of rights were provided including the right to water and sanitation, right of information, gender protection, customary rights and NGO participations. Once again, another preamble of the charter gives further insight as to its nature and goal by stating that the document is determined to promote sustainable development in the Basin through integrated, equitable coordinated management of natural resources, and in particular the Basin water resources. Article 3 as cited above has put beyond speculation that one of the general objectives of the charter is to engender sub-regional cooperation and solidarity, the main indicator of which are sub-regional peace, security and development. In a different order, four are Francophone, one Anglophone and one Arab. Thus the document becomes the first legal instrument after the Fort Lamy Convention to be collectively assented by the highest political authorities as a binding document to cover the entire Lake Chad Basin. Interventions made during the first consultations on the convening of the IGF 16 February. Vu les prix dans les pharmacies du coin, en ligne est plus avantageux de l'acheter. The Lake Chad Water Charter is a document setting out the rights, obligations, duties, restrictions, processes and procedures pertaining to proper management of the Lake Chad resources. The purpose of the Charter is to develop, adopt and implement policies and strategies to promote the equitable, efficient and sustainable of water and other resources in the basin in order to facilitate good governance, sub-regional cooperation and solidarity. The issues discussed above are geared towards integration, peace, cooperation, and security as means to prevent or minimize conflicts and disputes between member states as well as between citizens of member states.
