The Institute provides the following services: Attila Linguistic Institute tries to fill this void and meet the linguistic necessities of the Hungarian minority in Romania. The Institute also establishes digitized linguistic databases glossaries for the public administration, loanwords glossary and monolingual interpretive dictionaries. Institutional and Social Background. The Institute collects research papers, books that analyze aspects of linguistic rights, bilingualism, contactology, Hungarian minority language variants, does research on these subjects and stores their data and research results in an accessible format. One more step Please complete the security check to access www. We can notice insecurity, inconsistency and strong influence of Romanian in the official use of minority languages, inexistent or obscure juristic terminology, inconsistent terminology in school textbooks and technical documents, substandard and sometimes even outrageously low quality official translations, lack of information and lack of public awareness about linguistic rights. Language counseling aims at helping problems connected to language use. To cover the area and its goals the Institute has offices in both Cluj and Sfantu Gheorghe. We also edit and proofread dictionaries, terminologies and glossaries that are prepared for educational and scientific purposes. The databases being developed will contain demographic data about settlements, administrative units and regions, their temporal development and the entire statistical database of the Hungarian education in Transylvania. We also have the right provided by law to use Hungarian in the local public administration.
